May Day Celebrations

Wheaton students dance around the May Pole.

Bevery year begins with new student orientation. For a few days the incoming freshman are the only students on campus giving them a moment to try and get their bearing before the campus is filled with returning sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The beginning of this year was a chance to reflect on the 175 years that Wheaton has been around, beginning as a female seminar in 1834, turning into a four-year liberal arts college in 1912 and then most recently going coeducational in 1988.

The Wheaton campus is known as one of the most beautiful in New England and the students really bring to life the campus. Fliers covering the doors advertise the various events going on and every week is filled with speakers, festivities, and performances. Some of the campus-wide events throughout the year include, Homecoming, Halloween, the Big Event, Relay For Life, and Spring Weekend.

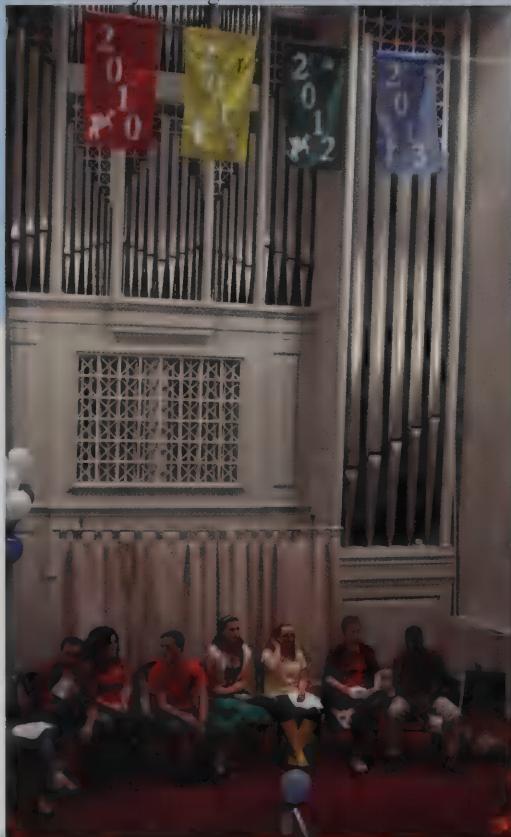

The year ends with a week of festivities for seniors only. The activities include Disorientation, Rosecliff, White Glove Tea, Courtyard Party and finish of course with graduation. The week is the capstone of the Wheaton experience for seniors who are leaving Wheaton to enter the wide world out there. The rest of us will remain safely in the Wheaton bubble for a few more years.

Top: Sophomores in green participate in the Chapel Ceremony on the other side for the first time.

The Chapel Ceremony, a long standing tradition during orientation introduced freshman to the Wheaton legends and taught the new students about Wheaton traditions. These traditions include that only seniors may sit on the library steps and enter the Chapel through the front doors. Additionally, that every Wheaton student must jump in the pond before they graduate.

Homecoming October 2-3, 2009

CELEBRATING WHEATON

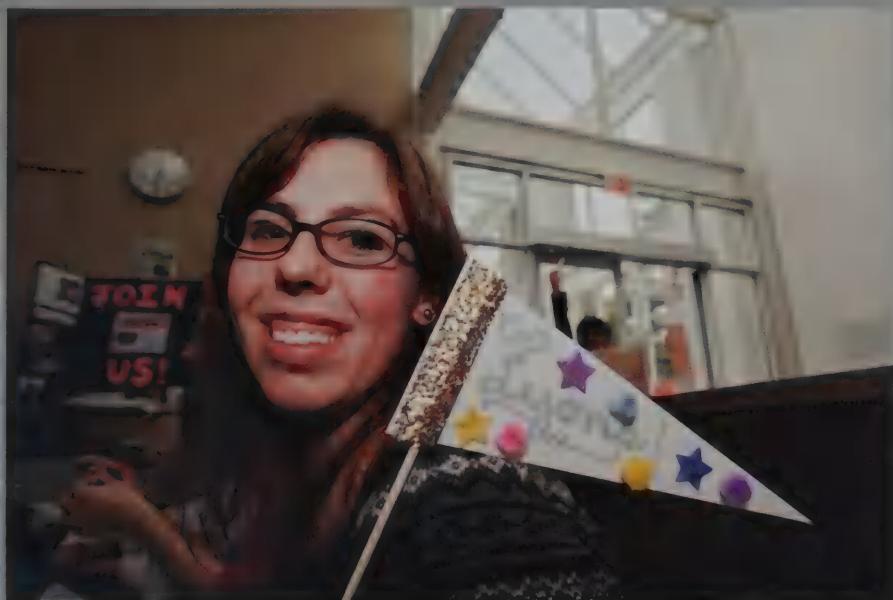

Wheaton celebrated its 175th anniversary beginning on Homecoming weekend with a celebration of Founder's Day and a 200th birthday party for Eliza Baylies Chapin Wheaton. Mrs. Wheaton played a central role in founding the institution that became Wheaton College.

Right: Homecoming was a time to see old friends again for returning alums.

The Classy Affair

The Lyon's Den

The Lyon's Den was a small coffee shop on campus.

Students could relax with a cup of coffee and listen to various student groups perform.

The Loft

The Loft was a place for students to enjoy a late night snack and listen to live music by local and student bands every other Thursday. Many clubs also hosted events at the Loft.

Big Event

The 1st Annual Relay For Life of Wheaton College was held in the Dimple in April 2003. Since then, Relay For Life has grown to become a very popular and exciting weekend on campus with this past year's theme of "Game Night". Relay For Life was sponsored by the Wheaton chapter of Colleges Against Cancer and there were over 300 participants. It is estimated that Relay For Life events world-wide have raised over 3 billion dollars to date.

Senior Week: The chance for students to just let down their hair after four years of hard work (and some fun...). A time for honoring old traditions, such as the hoop roll and the Courtyard Party. And a time for making a few new traditions, such as bringing a car into Slype or staring a Beirut Tournament in the hallways of Everett. Senior Week is certainly a time that will be remembered and cherished by the class of 2010.

Student Government Association (SGA) Office

tudents at Wheaton hold a wide variety of leadership positions on campus, which significantly contribute to the academic, athletic, and social life of the college community. The elected SGA members that comprise the Executive Board tackle many important issues ranging from students' educational concerns to the promotion of multicultural awareness. They also help organize recreational, social and cultural events on campus. The SGA class officers voice the concerns of their particular constituents, ensuring that the needs of the student body are properly met.

Student leaders also serve important roles in educating their peers. Preceptors for instance function as mentors for the incoming freshman class, helping them to transition from high school to college by explaining Wheaton's academic expectations and honor code policies. Similarly, RAs function as mentors within a social context, planning group activities for their residents and assisting with any interpersonal conflicts that may arise. Finally, the Wheaton Athletic Mentors encourage healthy lifestyles on campus by hosting exiting games and activities. Thus student leaders play a key role in all aspects of the Wheaton college experience.

Leadership Development Workshop

In the fall, student leaders participated in a leadership development workshop led by Wheaton's Alum Trustees Lou-Ann Daly and Jessica Bruce. During this event leaders from all four class years learned how to set and achieve specific goals within their clubs and organizations. They participated in personal writing exercises focused on establishing goals and worked with others to evaluate the relative importance of these goals and to discuss how each one might be accomplished.

Do Women

Lead at Wheaton?

In the spring of 2010, students hosted a panel discussion to critically analyze the status of female leadership at Wheaton.

Student panelist, Alexandra Schibanoff from the class of 2012 discussed the perceived lack of female leadership in visible campus roles. In addition, panelists, Amanda-Joy Febles '12 and Jennifer Salazar '10 shared stories of their personal experiences at Wheaton in terms of the campus climate towards female leadership. Their discussion was facilitated by Mark Anderson '12.

The panelists addressed such questions as why are there few female students in prominent higher-level leadership positions on campus and how can this lack of representation can be amended.

Wheaton Athletic Mentors

The WAMS are comprised of a select group of student athletes, who mentor teammates and promote health and wellness on campus. In the spring of 2010 they hosted their annual Big Event, a fun-filled weekend of games, including air volleyball, and padded sumo wrestling. Students navigated their way through the human obstacle course and glided down the Giant Slide.

he question isn't what is there to do on campus, it's what isn't there to do? With over 75 clubs and organizations on campus every member of the community is involved with something. On campus there were activism, educational, intercultural, service, and communication clubs. If that wasn't enough, students could also found their own clubs, new this year were clubs such as the Objectivist Club. Wheaton students are really the reason why Wheaton is so successful and clubs are a large part of this equation. Clubs engaged the campus and sparked those conversations in the dining hall that led to meaningful actions.

Working to change the World

Amnesty International- Amnesty International (AI) is a grassroots organization comprised of 1.8 million members in over 150 countries and territories, dedicated to protecting and promoting human rights around the world. The group on campus organized the signing of various petitions in Balfour that would protect human rights.

International Justice Mission- The International Justice Mission, founded by Sophomore Tanya Aritao, is a campus chapter for the International Justice Mission -a human rights agency that secures justice for victims of slavery, sexual exploitation and other forms of violent oppression. IJM lawyers, investigators and aftercare professionals work with local officials to ensure immediate victim rescue and aftercare, to prosecute perpetrators and to promote functioning public justice systems. The International Justice Mission hosted a very successful Justice Fair in Balfour, presented several documentaries, and facilitated the Justice Hour discussions every Friday.

Roosevelt Institute- The Roosevelt Institute is a national nonpartisan student think tank with chapters at 85 colleges and universities. Throughout the year the Roosevelt Institute hosted many panel discussions on topics such as health care, religion in public life, and Haiti. These discussions were taken to the next level at the biweekly fireside chats that served as a forum for members to discuss important world issues.

College Republicans- The College Republicans was a political interest organization that worked to promote conservative principles and the politics of the Republican Party on campus.

Wheaton Democrats- According to Annemarie Hanson the Wheaton Democrats, "...are a student-based club dedicated to expanding democratic political knowledge on campus, cooperating with local and regional networks, and analyzing political figures, actions, and trends. We hope to both promote and extend the democratically political perspectives of the Wheaton community, and reach out to those of other political backgrounds as well."

Wheaton Woods Conservation Society- In the words of David Broomfield, "The Wheaton Woods Conservation Society strives to keep the woods clean and in working, and walking order. Believe me, it is a constant battle versus drunken college kids. We take walks, blaze new trails, find cool things and build bridges where bridges need to be built."

Colleges Against Cancer- The Wheaton chapter of Colleges Against Cancer, an initiative of the American Cancer Society, sponsored many events on campus, including:

- 1) Relay For Life of Wheaton College
- 2) Breast Cancer Awareness Month
- 3) The Great American Smokeout
- 4) Daffodil Days
- 5) Skin Cancer Awareness Days

CAC sought to raise awareness on campus about cancer prevention, cancer research, and advocacy efforts.

Education Club-Provides Education/General Education minors a support center in regards to class choices and education requirements. The Education Club also works on giving back to school-children on both a local and global level.

German Club-The German Club consists of all students studying German at Wheaton or interested in German culture and the environment in Germany.

Italian Club- Each week members of the club get together to drink espresso and speak in Italian. “It really helps everyone studying Italian with their conversational skills because not only do we have Daria, but there are a couple other fluent speakers who come weekly as well,” described Madeleine Goldsmith.

Wheaton Investment Association- The purpose of this organization is to provide Wheaton undergraduate students with a wide array of knowledge in the field of finance.

Sharing cultures

Right: Yang Li and Xiao-jie (Fjeld) Jin demonstrate some dancing at the Lunar New Year Festival.

Asian American Coalition (AAC)-AAC works to enlighten both Wheaton campus and the local community of the culture and history of Asia as well as educate about the societal issues concerning Asia, Asians, and Asian Americans both on campus, locally, and globally. AAC welcomes all students who identify as being Asian, Asian-American, or anyone interested in the many Asian cultures and experiences, and reinforces the necessity and advantages of diversity.

Distinguished Women of Color Collective (DWOCC)- Distinguished Women of Color Collective (DWOCC) is a student led organization where Women of Color and their allies can share their experiences, receive support, learn and create change.

DWOCC is also valued as a place for women of color to have fun, relax and reject the racial struggle on campus while promoting positivity about culture and ethnicity of all kinds. This organization is instrumental in molding and shaping the shared and separate experiences of the women of color and their allies on campus.

Latino Student Association- The Latino Student Association at Wheaton College strives to promote awareness, understanding and knowledge about Latino and Hispanic culture throughout the campus in a friendly, tolerant, and welcoming fashion. The club is open to any member of the Wheaton community, whether or not he or she identifies as Latino/a. Members of the club have the opportunity to facilitate meetings around issues that they deem relevant and important to the club.

P racticing faith

Christian Fellowship- Wheaton Christian Fellowship is a vibrant faith community that seeks to boldly invite the campus to experience the abundant life that Jesus offers. Christian Fellowship is a community that asks tough questions and shares spiritual struggles. Members spent many weeks sharing stories of how God had impacted their lives. They also invited the greater Wheaton community to ask their questions about faith, specifically Christianity, and to consider how God is a God of justice. Students, faculty and staff came and wrote down their responses to questions like, "Do you think the world is inherently good or evil?" intended to stir up spiritual conversation on campus.

Hillel- The mission of Hillel was to bring Jewish life, activities, and culture to the Wheaton Community: both for the Jewish population in the Wheaton Community, and for the non-Jewish population. The role of Hillel in facilitating multiculturalism was accomplished through a variety of events. These ranged from religious holidays being observed and celebrated, to campus wide BBQs, dances, and speakers. All events and all weekly meetings were open to anyone, regardless of faith or practice.

Interfaith Alliance- IFA works to promote an understanding of and appreciation for all religious, faith and spiritual groups; to provide a welcoming space for students who wanted to discover and explore their faiths; and to create a safe space for students to engage in respectful dialogues that move beyond tolerance and inspire collaborative initiatives, which enhanced diversity in the Wheaton community.

BACCHUS- BACCHUS worked to provide alternative activities for students on campus who choose not to drink. Such activities included showing new-release movies in Hidle for free, serving mocktails, hosting an off-campus bowling event and broadcasting the Superbowl in Hidle. Another integral part of the mission was to spread awareness about alcohol and the physical, mental and social effects of drinking.

Habitat for Humanity- The national organization of Habitat for Humanity is a nonprofit, ecumenical Christian ministry founded on the conviction that every man, woman and child should have a decent, safe and affordable place to live. The Wheaton chapter went to Bozeman, Montana over Spring Break to help on a building project.

Whe/Arc Friendship Club- The Whe/Arc Friendship Club (Formerly known as Best Buddies) is a club dedicated to enhancing the lives of people with intellectual disabilities by providing opportunities for mutually enriching one-to-one friendships and new social networks. It allows Wheaton students to work with peers with intellectual disabilities, and grow from their very different experiences. This club also allows those with intellectual disabilities to branch out and learn from Wheaton college students. The Whe/Arc Friendship Club is truly an inspirational and extremely fun club.

Recording the year

Nike- Nike is Wheaton's yearbook. Traditionally the yearbook was a present from the junior class to the senior class and has since evolved into a regular staff that works on the yearbook throughout the year. Yearbooks are sent home to all seniors and the staff works hard to really capture the year.

Rushlight- Rushlight is Wheaton College's literary and visual arts journal. Founded by Wheaton professor Lucy Larcom in 1855, Rushlight has long been a gathering place for creative minds. In fact, Rushlight is the oldest continuously-publishing student literary magazine in New England. The content of the magazine, which has two editions each academic year, is composed of poetry, prose, plays, and original artwork chosen from a pool of over one hundred submissions each semester.

Wire- The Wheaton Wire is the college's only student newspaper and has a circulation of 1,500 issues a week to students, faculty, staff, alumni and trustees. The Wire features news, human interest stories, sports and outside commentary in order to inform the Wheaton community. Throughout the years the Wire has reported on world events, national elections, professional sports and entertainment in order to bring the world to Wheaton's doorstep with a unique collegiate insight.

The arts at Wheaton have always been an important part of life to many students. With many dance groups, individuals can express individuality through movement. Vocal groups, such as Voices United to Jam and the Gentlemen Callers perform and members show their talented voices. Wheaton students put on many performances throughout the year, and produce many different art pieces.

This artistic spirit has always been a large part of the Wheaton experience. Since the school was founded, artists, dancers and performers alike have been able to express their creative views freely.

Voices United To Jam (VUJ)

Voices United to Jam is the first Gospel and R&B group on Wheaton's Campus. They have diverse, soulful, powerful, proud and emotion-rich voices. The music they perform sometimes incorporates instrumentalists and vocalists, and VUJ is the only singing group on campus to do so.

iSpeak

iSpeak is the spoken word group on campus. Their many poets and speakers voices issues such as race, gender, inequality, discrimination, love, and life. Five iSpeak poets this year went to the Collegiate Jam in Boston.

heaton College has made its name as a top liberal arts college in the nation. However, this is not the only place Wheaton stands out. Many of our students excel in the sports arena as well as in the classroom. Balancing class time, homework, and practices is hard, but is also extremely rewarding. Like every Wheaton student, these men and women can reminisce about impossible tests or last Saturday's party. But they have added something more to their Wheaton experience. That is, 6am practices; hours spent in the Balfour gym; sharing training room gossip with Kathy; and all the blood, sweat, and tears they could give during their career as a Wheaton College athlete. Not all of them go to Nationals, but every single one of them gives their heart and soul to their sport. And in doing so, follow a proud tradition of Wheaton College athletes. We are doctors, lawyers, artists, coaches, and Olympic hopefuls. We are Lyons.

Volleyball

The women of the Volleyball Team have one of the busiest schedule of any of Wheaton's teams, with 33 games on the line-up in the fall of 2009. Although these Lady Lyons had a disappointing run in the NEWMAC conference games, the fact that they won 18 out of the 33 games they played (more than half) is a testament to their grit and strength as a team. With some promising new freshman faces on the squad, we can expect great things from these ladies in the future.

Wheaton Field Hockey had a rough season in the fall of 2009. The season started off well with two home victories and despite a rash of losses, the women continued to persevere, adding four more wins to their season record and winning most of their home games in front of a supportive and enthusiastic crowd.

After losing several talented seniors to the class of 2009, the Women's Cross Country Team knew this would be a rebuilding year. On top of that, the team experienced numerous season-ending injuries. Despite a few rough meets, the Wheaton Women managed to pull through and earn 2nd out of 19 teams at the Saints Invitational in Boston and 24th out of 47 teams at the NCAA New England Championships in Cumberland, Maine.

Above: The Wheaton Women take their places on the starting line at the NEWMAC championships at Franklin Park in Boston. The ladies would go on to earn 8th place in the meet that day.

Like the Women, the Wheaton Men's Cross Country Team experienced several upsets and injuries throughout their 2010 season. However, with the help of new faces, Karl Mader, Jake Dunn, and Michael Richards added to the senior experience of captain Miles Souza and Junior captain, Nick Kacher, the Men were able to pull off an impressive 4th out of 17 teams at the Saints Invitational in Boston and 28th of the 48 teams at the NCAA New England Championships in Cumberland, Maine.

Women's Soccer was on top of their game in the 2009 season. The ladies charged forward to an overall season record of 18-4-2, winning all but 2 of their home games. Although they do not often receive the fanfare given to their male counterparts, these ladies certainly earned it. Kathleen Carroll earned NCAA All-American Academic status. Lyndsey McManus, Emily Hough, and Alessia Visconti each earned NSCAA/adidas All-New England honors. McManus and Hough were also named ECAC All-Stars. And McManus, along with her fellow senior Captain, Rosie Levy, was chosen to represent Wheaton in the NEWISA Senior Bowl.

Men's Soccer

The Wheaton Men's Soccer Team had an incredibly successful 2009 season, going 18-4-1 in the regular season and 5-1 in the conference. They certainly did not let down their home crowd either, winning 11 of their 14 Wheaton games. And who could ever forget the double-overtime Homecoming game against coast Guard in the pouring rain? Added to these phenomenal wins was the honor of two players, David Ferriero and Yuri Moreira being picked to be on the NSCAA All-New England first squad. Moreira was also named an ECAC first team all-star and was voted to the second All-American Team.

To say the Women's Tennis Team had a successful 2009 season is an understatement. Only losing two of their eighteen regular season matches, the Lady Lyons easily secured a spot at the NCAA National Championships in the spring of 2010. The team beat Wellesley 5-4 to win the NEWMAC Championship in the fall. The Lady Lyons would fall in the second round to defending champion, Williams College. However, this season is undoubtedly the best in Wheaton Women's Tennis history!

The Tritons are one of Wheaton College's most beloved and successful sports teams. Each year the ladies entertain us with their creative and daring routines and prove their prowess on the National stage. 2010 was no different. Sophomore Christiana Butera produced a strong showing at Nationals and Senior Captain Laura Montes was recruited to represent her home, Puerto Rico, at the Central American and Caribbean Games.

Women's Basketball

The Wheaton Women had a bit of an up and down 2009-2010 season, earning a 16-11 win to loss ratio. However, as in the case in any sport, tough competition only makes a team stronger and better. Several new faces were added to the old as the freshman class came into replace last year's seniors. These ladies certainly proved themselves on the court and will be exciting to watch in the next few years. This year's highlights however have to go to the two senior captains, Andrea Bailey and Jenny Champney. Champney became the 11th woman in Wheaton history to score 1,000 points in her Wheaton career. And Andrea Bailey's game winning buzzer beating 3-pointer was nothing short of spectacular during Wheaton's home win over Wellesley. Both women were invited to play in the New England Women's Basketball Association's All-Star Classic.

Above: Senior Captain Jenny Champney takes a shot. Champney would go on to be the 11th player in Wheaton history to score 1,000 points in her time here.

Men's Basketball

Wheaton Men's Basketball had what many would call a "heart-breaking" season in 2010. This was a good team, with lots of talent and extremely honest and hard-working players. For whatever reason, be it youth, chemistry, an unlucky horoscope, the Wheaton guys just couldn't quite get it to all come together at the same time and place. Despite this, they proved their mettle during a season many would have given up on, and so were rewarded with several spectacular wins. The December 5th game at Bridgewater would certainly be one of these examples. A tight game ended in a last-minute basket to bring the final score to 68-66 Wheaton and the crowd to their feet. Despite a tough season, the Wheaton men never lost the loyalty of their adoring fans.

The Wheaton Women's Swimmers and Divers are known for their strength as a team. This year was no different for the Lady Lyons. The team placed 3rd out of 10 in a very competitive NEWMAC championship. They also earned 8 NCAA Nationals Championship cuts. One of the Wheaton swimmers to compete at NCAA's was sophomore, Julia Wright. Wright, only a second year diver, had been smashing school records all year and narrowly missed making the finals at Nationals. The team was also joined by Paralympic swimmer, Kristin Duquette.

The Men's Swimming and Diving Team proved they would not be outdone by their female teammates as they matched their best record performance at this year's NEWMAC Championship, earning 4th place. Junior Jonathan Gold followed behind Julia Wright in setting a new one-meter dive school record as well.

The Women's Track and Field Team lost 12 of its best athletes after the 2009 year. On top of this, several of their members experienced season-ending injuries. They knew it would be a hard year.

However, even though the team did not experience their usual success on the National stage, they welcomed several talented freshmen and saw the return of Didine Jusme, who went on to be the only Lady Lyon to represent Wheaton at the NCAA Championships on May 29th.

The Men's Track and Field Team had one of the most successful seasons ever. The team sent 5 men to the Indoor NCAA Championships where they placed ninth, their best placing since 2004. Their success continued into the Outdoor season. The Wheaton Men currently rank first in Division III 4x100 meter and 4x400 meter relays. At the Penn Relays, the 4x1 team beat Division I and II powerhouses Texas A&M and St. Augustine's. The team made history at the outdoor NCAA National Championship by capturing national titles in both the 4x100 and 4x400.

Softball

The Women's Softball team saw an exciting year as their winning stretch went from 5, to 8, to eventually 10 games before it would be stopped by nationally-ranked Coast Guard. The Lady Lyons did not let this get them down, however, as they continued to pick up wins and provide tough competition for more nationally ranked teams, such as Brandeis. They finished their season 20-18 including 8-8 in the league as the Lyons were knocked out of the NEWMAC Tournament in the second round.

Baseball had a banner year in 2010. From their first game as the 2010 team, where they smashed in-region foe Suffolk with 12 unanswered runs to their to their unheard of 29 runs against Coast Guard in April to their victory at the NEWMAC Championship Tournament to their 2nd place bid at the NCAA Championships in May, the Wheaton Baseball team has been on top. Unsurprisingly, head coach Eric Pobleski saw his team's 400th win this year. The Lyons finished the season 35-12 after falling 9-7 to Saint Joseph's College of Main in the NCAA New England Regional Tournament.

Women's Lacrosse

Much like the men, Wheaton Women's Lacrosse had a 2010 season of ups and downs. The ladies began with a rough start on their Florida trip. However, they did not let this discourage them as they continued to push for and achieve several victories. Their perseverance was rewarded in the end as Junior Marianna Marcellino and sophomores Hailey Colburn and Brittany Whynot received NEWMAC all-league honors. Colburn went on to earn regional honors as well.

Missing from Picture: Peter Buongiorno, Keegan Dombrosky, Assistant Coach Brian Tobin

The Wheaton Men's Lacrosse team had an up and down year in 2010. The highlights would definitely have been Ben Cederberg becoming the 13th Wheaton man to hit the 100-point milestone and four of the men's team's players earning pilgrim League All-Conference honors. These four men were Ben Cederberg, Billy McNamara, Drew Schaffer, and Chris Landers.

Men's Tennis

Missing from Picture: Eric Pelletier, Assistant Coach Betty Ann Giles

The Wheaton Men's Tennis Team, though not nationally ranked as their female counterparts, were nonetheless no less successful on the NEWMAC conference stage. The Wheaton Men made their way to the top of the NEWMAC Conference in 2010, only to be bested by one team, nationally ranked MIT. Coach Lynn Miller was named NEWMAC Coach of the Year due to her success in both Men's and Women's tennis. Five Wheaton athletes: Senior James Little, Junior Harry Altman, Junior Brian Krantz, Junior Gregory Poulin, and Senior Kyle Hudgins all received NEWMAC honors as well.

The Nike Yearbook Staff would like to honor Amber James '03 on being the most decorated athlete to pass through Wheaton College Halls. James, a member of the Varsity Track and Field Team from 2001-2003 played a pivotal part in helping Wheaton Track earn 6 consecutive National Championships. James herself was a 17-time National Champion and 24-time All American during her time at Wheaton. The NCAA has recognized James as the "greatest female athlete" in the 25 year history of Division III Track and Field.

Amber James is living proof of the amazing accomplishments of Wheaton athletes.

onratulations Wheaton Class of 2010!

Hopefully you have all jumped into the pond, sat on the library steps, walked through the front door of the chapel, cultivated a relationship with cow duck, gone dimple diving, made the mandatory trip to Sporty's, and possibly made an ill-intentioned visit to the Gebbie Gate... Finally bursting the Wheaton bubble is a bittersweet experience, but hopefully the past four years have been some of the best of your life, filled with enlightening experiences and invaluable relationships.

This book is a tribute to all of you, and we hope that it is something that you will treasure as a reminder of your time spent at Wheaton. The Nike staff would like to thank some of the many who helped contribute, including: Andrea Holden, Scott Dietz, David Cox, Zeph Stickney, Deanna Hauck, Emma Chaiken and the Communications Office staff. You have helped make this book possible and we appreciate it so much.

And to the Senior Class of 2010, live it up! Cherish the memories, the adventures and the personal relationships preserved here as you go out and take over the world. And don't forget- always stay forever young in your hearts.

Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did. So throw off the bowlines, sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover.

Class of 2010

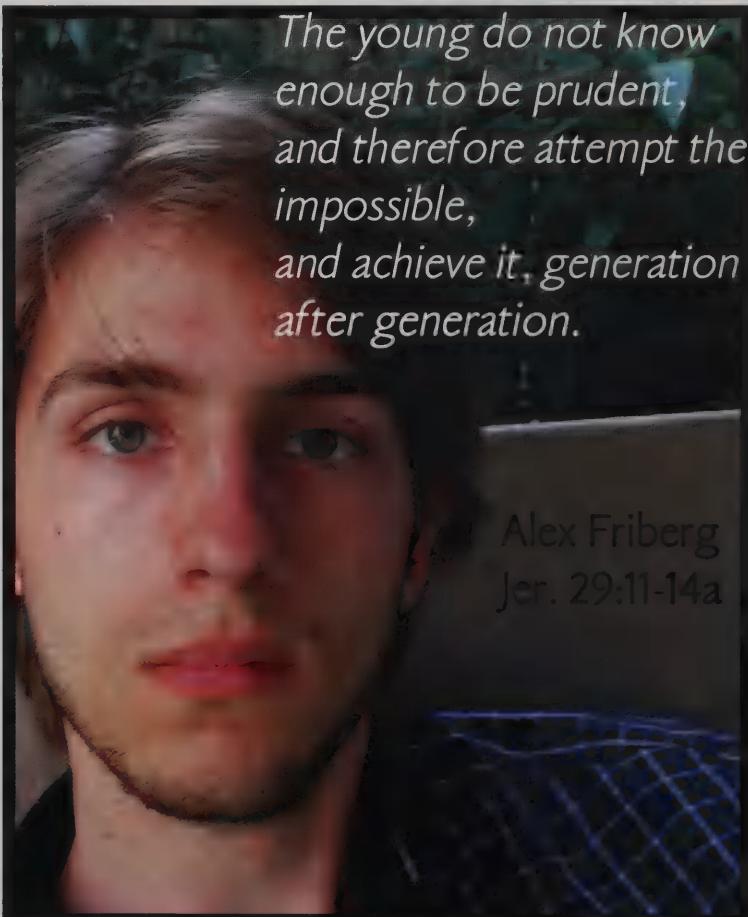

To our loving son,
It is hard to express in words how much we enjoy having you as our son.
You are an intelligent, cheerful, and compassionate young adult.
We enjoyed your journey from preschool through college years.
We look forward to your future success. We love you.
Mom and Dad

Bro, Congratulations on graduating.
It seems just like yesterday that we were in Canada the summer before you went off to college. All I can say is "Safari Parker". You have been a great older bro. I wish you the best as you leave college.
Love, Brant

Children are like Kites
You spend a lifetime trying to get them off the ground. You run with them until you're both breathless. They crash you add a longer tail... they hit the rooftop you pluck them out of the spout...you patch and comfort, adjust and teach.
You watch them lifted by the wind and assure them that someday they'll fly...
You are on your way Laura...
We love you and are very proud of you

To our Maggie,

You have always been a joy! May you have much to celebrate in your life.

With all of our love,

Mom, Dad, Joel & Hayley

Amanda, we are so proud of you! We can't believe the time has gone by so fast and you are done with college! Little sissy's growing up.

We love you,
Mom, Dad & Jessica

Britta,

Many dreams are real now and more to be dreamed,
We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments.

Wishing you the best always...

Love, Mom, Dad, Ted, and Callie
Oh, the places you'll go!

Julia,
Congratulations to you and for all that you've accomplished.
T&T from Maj, Faj, Caroline & Boo too

Theresa,
We are so proud of you.
The best is yet to come.

Love, Mom, Dad, and Joe

Andrea Bagley,
Congratulations on your graduation. We are so very proud of you and what you have accomplished. You have learned that dedication and hard work pays off. As you continue to grow and learn, remember the good years while always looking ahead to the next step in your bright future!
Love Always,
Mom & Dad

ERIC, WE COULD NOT BE MORE PROUD OF
